George Fleming's Hibernia

By Vishi Garig,
Clay County Archives

A Service of Tara S. Green, Clay County Clerk of the Court

George Fleming hailed from a village called Slane in County Meath, in Ireland. George was living in Charleston, South Carolina working for the shipping firm of Napier, Rapellier and Benner. One day, George's employer sent him to St. Augustine, Florida. He never returned to Charleston.

George Fleming made a good impression on the townspeople. He married the beautiful daughter of Don Francisco Fatio, Dona Sophia Phillipa Fatio, in 1791 at the Fatio's plantation, New Switzerland. George received 32 slaves as part of her dowry.

Since George had served as a captain in the Royal Spanish Colonial Army he earned a Spanish land grant. The Fleming grant was given by Royal Order on October 29, 1790 and was confirmed by Royal Title on March 8, 1816. The grant was later confirmed by the U.S. government when his widow, Sophia, and his son, Lewis, applied for confirmation. The land grant was about 1,000 acres located on the banks of the St. Johns River. This land became known as Fleming's Island.

Clay County Archives

George called his new home Hibernia, after his homeland of Ireland. The story is that the first home he built was burned down by marauding Indians towards the end of the Seminole Wars. The second home, a two-story, colonnaded structure, was begun in 1856. Fleming cleared land in Hibernia for his crops.

He and his slaves tended cattle and hogs, raised citrus and cotton and whatever else he could get to grow in the sandy soils of Hibernia.

George and Sophia Fleming had five children. Two died as infants. The surviving three children were Luis (later Lewis) Michael Fleming, Mary Magdalena Juana Fleming (born May 27, 1800) and Jorge Felipe Fleming. Lewis was the second child to be baptized at the new Catholic Cathedral in St. Augustine.

George Fleming passed away in 1821. His home at Hibernia survived decades longer, standing until it was torn down in the late 1950's. One wonders if he could ever have imagined what Fleming's Island would one day become?

Margaret Fleming's Hibernia

Hibernia, Fleming's Island 1907 - Clay County Archives

By Vishi Garig,

Lewis Fleming, the son of George and Phillipa Fleming, grew up and married a lady named Augustina Cortez. The family lore is that she was a descendant of Hernando Cortez. She bore him three children but sadly passed away after only ten years of marriage in 1832. Her children were George C. Fleming (born 1822), Louis Isadore Fleming (born 1824) and Augustina Fleming (born 1831).

Then, Lewis Fleming married the most famous woman in the Fleming Family saga, Margaret Seton. Margret was of Scottish descent. Her parents were Charles and Matilda Seton, who lived in Fernandina.

Their plantation thrived. The Flemings had many acres under cultivation and grew crops like Sea Island cotton and oranges. However, the Native American threat was still real. In 1835, Lewis had to leave Hibernia to go fight in the Seminole war. While he was gone, Pompey, a well-regarded and trusted slave was made overseer of the property and operation.

Margaret Fleming stayed home, taking care of the children and the plantation through two wars. She waited for Lewis during the Seminole Wars as he served as Brigade Inspector of the 1st Brigade, Florida Militia. She waited as her two sons, Charles Seton and Francis Phillipe (called Frank) fought in the Civil War. Seton, as Charles Seton was called, was killed at the battle of Cold Harbor. Francis became the fifteenth governor of Florida in 1889. Margaret became a widow when Lewis came down with a sudden illness (a "congestive chill") that only lasted a few hours. He died in August, 1862.

Common lore is that, after the Civil War ended, Margaret Seton converted the damaged plantation house into a tourist resort. Actually, she had started taking in boarders as early as 1852. She advertised in the local paper. It was after the war that she kicked it up a notch. With the help of her children and staff, she turned the home into a hunting and golfing paradise. Tourists from the frigid north came down in the winter and took advantage of the genteel southern hospitality Margret offered.

Tragedy never seemed far behind the Fleming Family. In 1877 her beloved daughter and namesake, Margaret, died when there was an outbreak of yellow fever. Maggie was sent to Jacksonville to help nurse the sick (no one knew how it was spread then) and never came back. She died at age 26.

The death of Maggie caused Margaret to become very depressed. A year later, Margaret herself died and her funeral service was the first held in the new chapel on Fleming's Island, St. Margaret's Church.

Margaret Seton Fleming (1813-1878) was the matriarch of the family and due to her enduring strength in the face of tragedy, war and sickness, she became the subject of Eugenia Price's historical romance, "Margaret's Story". Her will is housed and preserved at the Clay County Historical Archives.

Golf comes to Hibernia

By Vishi Garig,

Clay County Archives

Margaret Fleming's son Frederick kept the Hibernia Hotel going after her death in 1878.

Aside from the hunting and other outdoor diversions Hibernia offered, Fred thought that golf was good business and a wonderful way to keep the visitors flocking there.

The golf course at Hibernia was owned by Miss Fanny Brown. Miss Brown was a wealthy Philadelphia Main Line spinster who left enormous sums of money to her nieces, nephews and sister in her will. Miss Brown's 1916 will (available for public viewing at the Clay County Historical Archives) gave the golf course land to the President and Board of Directors of the Hibernia Golf Club. One may assume there had to be a Fleming onboard.

Could one of these ladies be Miss Fanny Brown? Clay County Archives

She left her niece Fanny Brown Coleman in charge and left her funds to maintain the course at her discretion. The course itself may actually be one of the earliest courses ever built, maybe as early at the 1880's. The architect is unknown.

The course itself was a simple affair but loved by all who golfed there. Mr. Hoyt, a wealthy grocer from Chicago and winter resident of Green Cove Springs, crowed about it in a 1908 golf magazine.

"I came here to my winter home in November," Hoyt wrote. "I found the golf links as perfect as ever. I play every day and am pleased to say my game is as good as ever. I wish all my friends could be here to enjoy the perfect weather we are having and see nature at its best."

New high-tech surgery center opens this fall at Baptist Clay on Fleming Island

Clay County residents who need outpatient surgery will soon have access to a new state-of-the-art surgery center at Baptist Clay Medical Campus on Fleming Island. The 17,000-square-foot center is opening this fall.

This is the latest addition to Baptist Clay's growing medical campus and will provide residents with the most advanced medical equipment in an ultramodern facility. Among the types of surgeries that will be performed at the new center are rotator cuff or ACL repair, ENT (ear, nose and throat) procedures, and colonoscopies.

The new center will have spacious "smart" operating rooms that are 600 square feet each, or the size of an average two-car garage. It will feature patient and family comforts, with eight private pre- and post-surgical recovery rooms with 48" flat screen TVs, ample space for visitors and a private bathroom with a shower.

To make waiting easier, the center will feature a large lobby area with workspace to accommodate the latest in mobile technology and device-charging needs. Baptist is investing $12 million to build the new center.

Baptist Clay opened in 2013 and includes an adult and pediatric 24/7 ER, which was the first free-standing ER in Florida to earn stroke-ready certification. It also includes full imaging capabilities, primary care and adult and pediatric outpatient specialty care, along with a Wolfson Children's Specialty Center, which is part of the one of the top children's hospitals in the country.

"In the five years we've been open, Baptist Clay has treated more than 118,000 patients," said Darin Roark, vice president, Ambulatory Campuses and System Emergency Services.

"Baptist Clay has become a beacon of hope to Clay County by delivering life-saving interventions and stabilizing patients suffering from heart attack and stroke. We look forward to expanding our services to offer same-day surgery services on our campus."

We seek to recruit new businesses to locate to Clay County and work to retain and help grow existing Clay County businesses, all in an effort to: provide quality, high-wage employment opportunities; diversify the local economy; grow the non-residential tax base; and improve the overall business climate and quality of life in Clay County for its citizens and families.

We work with our federal, state, regional and local leadership to accomplish this mission.

Bordered by the St. Johns River to the east and Doctors Lake on its northern edge, Swimming Pen Creek to its west and Black Creek to the south, Fleming Island is a unique inland island. Water, boating, jet skiing, swimming, kayaking, canoeing, wake boarding and, of course, fishing are all tops to residents in this area as well as the whole of Clay County residents.

Fleming Island was settled by Irish immigrant George Fleming in 1760. Fleming received a 1,000-acre land grant from the Spanish governor of East Florida for his military service. In 1790, Fleming built Hibernia Plantation. The original swimming pool from the Plantation is still in operation and owned by Sandy and Nancy Morris in their home on the original site of the Plantation House on Old Church Road in Fleming Island's Hibernia community. This is the oldest concrete swimming pool in the While not an incorporated municipality, Fleming Island is best known as a bedroom community of Jacksonville.

Studies show median incomes to be the second best in Northeast Florida and riverfront and lakeside luxury homes are ubiquitous. Its residents enjoy excellent schools, sports and healthy lifestyle op-state of Florida.

In 1942, when Fleming Island was undeveloped, the U.S. Navy constructed four asphalt runways on the site and built an auxiliary airfield, which was abandoned in the 1960s, because its runways were too short to accommodate the jet aircraft now in operation.

Residential home and population growth in the Fleming Island area as well as surrounding Clay County were largely due to the beautiful lifestyle opportunities and educational system in this market.

Major developments include Eagle Harbor, Pace Island, Fleming Island Plantation, Hibernia Plantation and Margaret's Walk.

Fleming Island boasts it's a movie theatre, a Walmart, Target, Home Depot, Kohl's, Publix, Winn-Dixie, Kirkland's, Michael's, PetSmart and many other types of businesses. Dozens of friendly restaurants abound with Whitey's Fish Camp, a legendary restaurant known across North Florida and across America. The Clay County Public Library headquarters are on Fleming Island, as are the Clay County Soccer Club fields.

There is an 8-foot-wide sidewalk running the length of Fleming Island, providing about 7 miles of walking, jogging and biking. Black Creek Park on the southern end of Fleming Island borders Black Creek for bikers and hikers to enjoy nature trails.

On the north end of Fleming Island, nature preserve Moccasin Slough boasts a park for children.

Wrestling, swim and weightlift get sports golds for Fleming Island High

By Randy Lefko
Sports Editor

FLEMING ISLAND - Fleming Island High School's 2017-18 academic year had one of its best sports seasons with three state champion wrestlers, a third gold medal in boys swimming and a state weightlift champion and state record setter as well as a region final berth for football with a state defensive player of the year honoree.

For the boys swim team, the odds of a third gold medal in the 4 x 50 freestyle event in Class 4A were in the Golden Eagles favor with three of the four members of the previous two golds still seniors.

Seniors Jack Neeley, Nick Hackett and John Hutton started the streak with freshman Andrew Heinton three years ago and the quartet repeated in 2016.

In 2017, Hutton left to continue swimming at University of Nevada-Las Vegas and create a hole in the squad that Colorado transfer Jacob Thompson filled admirably to keep the streak alive.

"The look on the faces of the Seminole High team was priceless," said Fleming Island High coach Jordan Bright, after Seminole entered the 2017 meet as a very confident threat to the streak. Seminole finished second. "The three straight 200 free relay thing was a bullseye that has been there all season,"

In 2018, Heinton is the lone survivor to keep the legend on with three new faces joining him.

For the Fleming Island High wrestling team, Jason Davis set the standard as the first state champion in 2017 as the Golden Eagles finished their best season to date with a second place in Class 3A behind powerhouse South Dade High School. with

In 2018, seniors Paul Detwiler and Ryan Smenda teamed up with junior Briar Jackson to add three more golds to the wrestling trophy case with Detwiler going undefeated in 63 matches and Smenda once beaten 32 matches while Jackson, a junior, was 56-6 and the owner of the most explosive 47 second championship pin in Golden Eagle wrestling history.

The trio set a higher standard for coach P.J. Cobbert with the team again finishing second in Class 3A to South Dade, but this time a bit closer in team points; 230-140 in 2018, 240.5-106.5 in 2017.

Detwiler is wrestling for the Coast Guard Academy in Connecticut while Smenda, a football linebacker voted the Florida 7A defensive player of the year, is a freshman linebacker at Wake Forest University.

In weightlifting, senior Tyler Nguyen won his first state title at 154 pounds with a 45 pound total win difference over the silver medalist. Nguyen set a total of 645 pounds for the bench press and clean and jerk to win decisively. Teammate DJ. Pimentia finished fifth also in the 154 pound division.

In the fall sports, top finishes came from seniors Evan Fuller and Andrew Miller in cross country with both advancing to the state championship meet in Tallahassee with Miller getting eighth in his second trip and Fuller finishing 49th overall. Miller is currently running for Elon University in North Carolina while Fuller is at Flagler College in St. Augustine.

In football, the Smenda-led Golden Eagles' defense made a successful region final run that ended with a loss to Bartram Trail.

From the team, Smenda is at Wake Forest while fellow linebackers Jack Surgeon and Jackson Bull also are now playing in college; University of Chicago for Surgeon and Valdosta State (Ga) for Bull.

In the spring sports season, the Fleming Island High baseball team orchestrated a sterling season reverse from a slow start to ride the arm of senior pitcher Caleb Lanoux to a region final berth against Strawberry Crest. Fleming Island got an outstanding coaching debut at mid-season from former player Grant Bigilow who was installed after heart problems with head coach Marty Lanoux. Bigilow was named head coach shortly after the season.

Top track performance for the Fleming Island High track team came from the Golden Eagles quartet of Jared Ashe, Cameron May, Landon Opp and Fernandez Felipe who finished fifth overall with a scintillating final lap from Felipe. Andrew Miller place ninth in the 3200 meters as well.

In boys tennis, Fleming Island High sophomore Logan Zapp pushed the Fleming Island team into the state tournament where they lost in round one of the Class 4A championship tournament. Zapp continued as an unbeaten player and eventually lost to Coral Gables Daniel Krulig, the Class 4A individual champion, in a match for the overall singles title.

At St. Johns Country Day School, Fleming Island residents Alisa Detlefsen, Abbey Newton and Payton Crews all bolstered the soccer lineup for the Lady Spartans who grabbed a seventh consecutive Class 1A title for coach Mike Pickett. Detlefsen is now at Troy University in Alabama; Newton is at Louisiana State University and Crews is at Texas Christian University.

Spartan swimmer Nick Rogers finished sixth in the Class 1A 100 butterfly final and returns for his senior year as a top swimmer statewide. Rogers' sister, Megan, also a top player for St. Johns soccer, graduated from the U.S. Naval Academy and was a four year varsity soccer player at the Academy. She is now a U.S. Marine pilot.

One interesting coaching change in Fleming Island was former Fleming Island High football coach Derek Chipoletti, who was one of the first coaches when the high school opened with his father, Neal, the head coach, took a leave of absence after coaching at Oakelaf High School until 2015 then returning to the sidelines at St. Johns Country Day School in 2018.

Whitey's Fish Camp

For 55 years, people who love good food and fishing have used the famous line from Credece Clear "Living on the Bayou," when enjoying an exceptional meal at Whitey's Fish Camp on Fleming Island. Located on the shore of Doctors Lake and Swimming Pen Creek along the coast of Whitey's is without a doubt a world famous and popular destination for dining, drinking and enjoying entertainment and fishing!

Originally owned by the Berry family and a former U.S. Navy man, William "Whitey" Ham and his wife started the fish camp in 1963. It all began with a fishing tackle store, stools, a toaster oven, drinks and sandwiches.

While the summer fishing season provided a great opportunity for their family, the winter months really slowed down running trout lines and realizing they could do more, they decided to expand the restaurant. They sold catfish plates for $1.75 at that time.

In 1969, an old run-down storage shed was converted into a dining room, yet to be remodeled to a modern dining room, which housed bait tanks. This fish camp was "retro" and just had that feel people get from a place with numerous remodels including the "retro" remodel that really brought it to life. The speed as a place that people would love to visit. The look still abounds, but their décor is the view of the water from near the house.

From its early beginnings, it has become a special place. Early visitors included many Navy veterans including the annual Ceremonies including

Over the last 20 years its no big deal to see members from the Southern Rock Bands Molly Hatchet or Lynyrd Skynrd just out for dinner on a Sunday after church.

Over the years, special times just seem to spring up. Memories of Melvin Davis planting a three-foot alligator in the bathroom to scare some friends or the old goat that ran down the bar brought some big-time laughter. The restaurant family along with patrons would enjoy pig roasts and sing a longs late into the evening, which made for some of the best times ever possible.

Today, the kids, Greg, Cindy, Luke, Billy and Elaine are all owners, with Luke, Billy and Elaine involved in daily operations of this institution. You can rent a boat with oars or a small engine or a kayak and if you like to RV, they offer 44 rental slots at their adjacent RV Park.

They have an extensive menu that includes salads, steaks, burgers, chicken, pastas, tacos and yes, they have all the seafood selection you would ever want including their famous catfish, crab, shrimp, pollack, flounder, oysters and freshly caught gator. "That drove me and my fellow commissioners to support extending the libraries' hours of operation earlier this year." Each of the library branches are open the following hours:

Monday - Thursday - 10:00 a.m. to 8:00 p.m.
Friday - Saturday - 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.
Sunday - closed

The libraries are embracing technology tools that make it easier for residents to enjoy a good read. Ebooks have been available to library patrons for many years, but the addition of Tumble books has added to the library's support to the Clay County Public School District and family reading time at home. Tumble Books add animation, sound, music and narration to existing books resulting in an electronic picture book which can be read independently or read to you.

The libraries also supply residents with relevant programming like computer classes focusing on basic computer usage, social media and using a mobile smart phone, teen interests, concerts and more.

The Middleburg and Orange Park locations recently began offering use of a 3D printer. The 3D printer can create a physical object based on a design supplied as a digital file. All print requests are serviced on a first come, first served basis. If there is high demand, the library will schedule only one print per week per patron.

The Fleming Island library location serves as the headquarters for the county's library system. This location hosts a meeting room, which accommodates approximately 60 people, is available for meetings and events.

A dedicated group of library staff members are committed to planning a calendar of events that are cultural, educational and relevant to life in today's world while continuing to serve all generations. Whether it's children's story time, life skills for teens, computer classes, cultural topics or a concert, there is a program available to enhance your library experience.

Partnering with community organizations is important to the library system and your experience within the building. Clay County Libraries works with area Garden Clubs on special projects. The Fleming Island location worked with the Fleming Island Garden Club in the spring of 2018 to unveil a Blue Star Memorial By-way Highway Marker.
